Mother and daughter speak their minds about misplaced love. . . GLORIA: On the most beautiful spring day that God gave us all year, I came to find out some awful news about my daughter. If it wasnt so early in the day, Id pop open a beer. But its not ladylike to have alcohol before sundown. My coffee was cold, but I drank it anyway. With each sip, I mourned the grandchildren that I would never have. NAOMI: My cell phone rang with Beyoncs Irreplaceable ringtone. One glance at the Caller ID confirmed what I already knew. My husbands name lit up across the screen. I silenced the ringer, and put the phone back in my purse. If I could waive a magic wand over my life, I would never talk to him again. BOOK DESCRIPTION: Naomis life has been fueled by her appetite for ambition. She has a masters degree, a great corporate job in downtown Detroit, a shiny silver Jaguar, an immaculate suburban mansion and a best friend worth millions. But Naomis calculated success has...
