A linotyper and a monotyper need skill in punctuation, indentation and knowledge of English. This official does not favor preparatory trades school; favors practical trades school, provided boy is 15 rather than 16 years of age. Favors evening trades school, most of all the part-time plan. Says formerly skilled workmen paid more time and attention to training of boys. In his shop the boy is taught by some of the older and experienced workmen under the supervision of the superintendent. We have had good results from this system. It should be noted, however, that in recording either productive or non-productive time no mention is made of the item. He thinks equipment and costs for...
